FACTS

WHAT DOES GREYLOCK FEDERAL CREDIT UNION DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Why?
Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?
The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the accounts, products or services you have with us. This information can include:
• Name, address, Social Security Number, and income
• Account balances and payment history
• Credit history and credit scores

How?
All financial companies need to share members’ personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their members’ personal information; the reasons Greylock Federal Credit Union chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Who We Are

| Who is providing this notice? | Greylock Federal Credit Union. |

What We Do

How does Greylock Federal Credit Union protect my personal information?
To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards, secured files and buildings, procedural safeguards and safe record storage. We will continue to review and modify our security controls in the future to deal with changes in products, services and technology.

How does Greylock Federal Credit Union collect my personal information?
We collect your personal information, for example, when you
- open an account
- apply for a loan
- use your credit or debit card
- pay your bills
- make deposits to or withdrawals from the accounts you have with us

We also collect your personal information from others, including credit bureaus or other companies.

Why can’t I limit all sharing?
Federal law only gives you the right to limit:
- sharing for affiliates’ everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for non-affiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?
Your choices will apply to everyone on the account you have with us.
